"Great guides, great activities, great value!! If you like to actually learn something about the country and the people where you travel, then this is for you. I had a brief glance of real Mexico – authentic Mexico – through the eyes of an extraordinary Mexican man who passionately loves his country. That he is so open and unaffected, and is willing to freely share himself and his heritage with those who wish to see... it is something that transcends a simple tourist activity. This is joy of living. This company very deliberately seeks out and employs only the most outstanding individuals."
